COLUMBIA, ADAIR COUNTY, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY SEPTEMBER 22, 1909.

NUMBER 46

Graded School Opens.

Columbia's much talked of Graded School opened auspiciously Monday morning. The old M. and F. O'Leary hill swarmed with pupils at an early hour and they continued to come until by the time of the opening exercises the space provided by the school board was already at a premium. All the members of the board and many patrons of the school were present to witness the launching of an enterprise which promises much for the community's future welfare.

Devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. J. R. Crawford followed by an address congratulating the community and pupils on the future possibilities of the school. He was followed by Mrs. Georgia Shelton and Messrs. Lowe and English, members of the school board, all expressing their interest and best wishes for the new undertaking.

Superintendent, W. S. Wilson, then made an interesting talk in which he outlined something of the work and scope of the school. He closed by introducing the members of his faculty, all being present excepting the last assistant, who has been detained for a few days on account of illness.

Mrs. Sophia Gibson, Lexington, Ky., a teacher of some years successful experience, is to be in charge of the 1st and 2nd grades. Miss Arvilla Bland, Verona, Ky., will have the 3rd and 4th grades and the teacher yet to come, with Supt. Wilson, will have charge of the remaining grades. The faculty has been carefully assembled from experienced material that have already proven efficient in their chosen field. The prospects for a successful year seem bright. One hundred and twenty pupils were at the opening, and the school would indicate that the enrollment will reach the hundred and fifty mark for the first term. The earnest purpose of the school's Board of Trustees and faculty to give to the community a school of merit should challenge the warmest support of every lover of education. The school has come to stay and it should be a pride of the county.

Hon. Calhoun Powers.

Mr. Calhoun Powers delivered his lecture, "Right upon the Scaffold and Wrong upon the Throne" last Monday to an audience of about two thousand. It was not our privilege to hear it, but from what we gather and from the subject, he attempts vindication of himself from participation in the murder of Mr. Campbell. He was introduced by Judge H. C. Baker in a few words touching the hardships endured by Mr. Powers during his long confinement in prison. There will be a singing at Morris Chapel, conducted by J. H. Pickett, the first Sunday in October. Bring Wreaths of Heaven No. 3 and Silver Trumpet.

J. D. Euhank bought one mule of G. W. Coffey for $48; and also bought one of G. F. Pike for $65.

Mrs. C. W. Alexander died at her late home in Burksville last Saturday. She was a daughter of Judge M. O. Allen and was one of Burksville's best women. She was 49 years old and a consistent member of the Christian Church. Her death is a serious loss to the community in which she lived. Her brother, Mr. J. E. Allen, of Danville, passed through Columbia Sunday, enroute for the funeral.

L. B. Cain sold to Charley Pike 15 steers for $3 cents; to W. T. Doherty 12 steers for $3 cents.

For Watkins, remedies, call on Mrs. Bruce Montgomery or J. H. Pelley, Columbia, Ky., or Porter Murrell, Gray, Ky.; or Willie Huchison, Caney, Ky. We can see you on the square every Monday and every Saturday.

J. B. Grant.

Slaves Wanted.

Back to the old price $25.00 per pair for 14 barrel slaves. We will pay from now until Nov. 15, 1909, delivered on our yard at Columbia, Ky. For A-1 $11.00; B-1 $10.00; C-1 $9.00; D-1 $8.00; E-1 $7.00; F-1 $6.00; G-1 $5.00; H-1 $4.00; I-1 $3.00; J-1 $2.00; K-1 $1.00; L-1 $0.50; M-1 $0.25; N-1 $0.10; O-1 $0.05; P-1 $0.02; Q-1 $0.01; R-1 $0.005; S-1 $0.002; T-1 $0.001; U-1 $0.0005; V-1 $0.0002; W-1 $0.0001; X-1 $0.00005; Y-1 $0.00002; Z-1 $0.00001.

long, (all slaves that fall under 41 in clear of sap, will be classed as No. 2 slaves) we will pay $15 per m. 45-2t Respt., Elrod & Co.

Death of Mrs. Banks.

Last Friday night, about 10 o'clock, Mrs. Bessie Banks, who was the wife of Mr. John T. Banks, died at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Cundiff, who live three miles northwest of Columbia. The deceased was about twenty-five years old, an excellent lady and met her God peacefully. She was a victim of consumption, and had been sick for several months. Besides her husband, she leaves a little son, father and mother and several brothers and sisters. After religious services the remains were interred near the old home, many relatives and friends being present.

Married in Cincinnati.

A telegram to Mr. Fred Hill, of this place, sent from Cincinnati last Friday afternoon, announced that his brother, Mr. Frank Hill, who is the assistant cashier of the Monticello Banking Company, had got married that morning in the city to Miss Ethel Oates, who is a popular young lady of Wayne county, the only child of Mr. J. Oates, who is a prominent farmer and trader, whose home is near Monticello.

The groom was reared in Columbia and is quite popular with all the young people of this place. He is a nephew of Mr. R. F. Patterson and is a young man of excellent standing and business habits. The bride is not known here, but she is said to have been one of the most attractive young ladies in her home county.

We take it that the happy couple will visit Columbia at an early date at which time they will be given a cordial welcome and the warmest congratulations.

Mr. John R. Ankle, who was eighty-three years old, died near Crocus, one day last week.

A. B. Boston, of Sulphur Well, bought sucking mules in Columbia Monday as follows: One from Miss Bettie Smith, $80; one from Sam Thomas, $87.50; one from Jesse Breeding $87.50.

Ozark and Cane Valley met on the grounds of the latter last Saturday. Result, 16 to 9 in favor of Ozark.

There will be all day services at Zion church, 2nd Sunday in October. There will be preaching by some able divine and singing. Everybody invited to come.

Amateur Burglars.

Burglars entered the post-office at Monticello on the night of the 14th and undertook to blow the safe with nitroglycerine. Entry was made by breaking a window, and tools stolen from a blacksmith shop were found lying beside the safe. The charge of glycerine was too light, and only resulted in slight damage to the building, and failed to start the door. The microscans evidently became scared and gave up the job. Bloodhounds have been sent for and will be put on the trail to-day. The job is evidently one of amateurs, as no drilling tools were used.

Valuable Property For Sale.

I have a farm on Sulphur, 34 miles east of Columbia, containing 94 acres, price $800, and two houses and lots on Hurt street and two houses and lots on Hurt street, in Columbia for sale. One-third cash, balance on extended time. 46-2t N. M. Tutt.

Wanted.

Man for wood turning lathe. Apply E. L. Sinclair, Columbia, Ky. 46-2t

Born, to the wife of T. C. Davidson, near Liberty, a few days ago, a son.

It has been suggested that a meeting of the male residents of Columbia be held in the Courthouse for the purpose of selecting a municipal ticket for said town to be voted for at the November election. Five gentlemen of good community ability should be named. This meeting is called for Friday evening, September 24, 1909, at 7 p. m. It is hoped that many voters of the town will remember the date and attend the meeting.

Mr. Allen Walker has about completed a large tobacco barn on his premises.

STRAYED—A two year old yellow Jersey cow, some black about the head with horns. Reward offered for her recovery. Art Walker.

The rain last Thursday greatly revived vegetation.

Circuit Court.

The September term of the Adair circuit court drew a large crowd to Columbia last Monday. It was perhaps the largest delegation seen in this place for several years. Hon. Calhoun Powers had an appointment to deliver his lecture "Right upon the Scaffold and Wrong Upon the Throne." Mr. Powers is a drawing card and many were here to see and hear him.

Judge Baker opened court promptly at 10 o'clock a. m., and by the noon hour an organization was perfected. Judge Baker's instructions to the grand jury were pointed out, delivered in a shorter time than usual. The following named persons make up the jury:

GRAND JURY.

J. M. Turner, foreman; Jeff Rose, W. H. Conover, J. W. Simpson, W. H. Cundiff, Junius Pickett, Albert Johnson, W. W. Brockman, Frank D. Fiquila, E. O. Hurt, G. E. Walker, W. S. Bault.

PETIT JURY.

I. C. Harmon, John A. Breeding, H. C. Keltner, B. F. Rubars, J. F. Patterson, A. C. Wheeler, John Sullivan, Henry Huff, Matthew Leach, H. D. Murray, O. C. Vaughan, J. H. Martin, Emanuel Kemp, J. R. Light, W. E. Todd, J. P. Coffey, W. T. Loy, W. E. Brice, Lewis C. Caudill, L. T. Hurt, Walker Abner, Jodie Samuels, W. C. Leach, J. H. Wornack.

The Bank of Greensboro has suspended. This bank was a branch of the Burnside's institution which closed its doors last week. Mr. Abner Jones was the cashier of the Greensboro Bank and the books of the concern are perfectly straight.

I have a good Jersey cow for sale will be fresh in 30 days. Price $55. J. O. Russell.

Two little boys of this place got into a difficulty on the square one day last week and one of them received a severe kick on the head. Neither of the boys have reached their tenth year, and it is not often that kids of such tender age hurt each other, even if they do scrap occasionally. We were sorry to learn of the result of this mixup, and hope that the little fellows have learned their lesson and have resolved to never again turn a play into a fight.

Judge Baker will get through with the jury cases in all probability this week. There are a number of equity cases and he will hold court the full two weeks.

Tobacco speculators think the weed will be much lower this year on the city market than it was last year.

For Sale—A good second-hand buggy, good as new. Call on E. L. Feese, at News Office. 45-2t

Russell Kinnaird Dead.

Last Thursday morning, at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Kinnaird, near Nell, this county, the subject of this notice peacefully closed his eyes in death. He was about 50 years old and was known to a great many residents of Columbia, he having often visited here. He was a nephew of Mr. J. O. Russell and a brother of Mr. J. O. Muenzies. He was a very polite young man, one who had many friends. The funeral and interment was near his late home, many relatives and friends being present. He was a victim of stomach trouble and was sick several months.

The Democratic committee of the various precincts in Adair county are urged to be at the county election held at the call elsewhere in this paper.

Mr. J. F. Patterson is making improvements at his residence, building additional rooms and raising the roof.

Miss Jennie McFarland, one of Columbia's popular young ladies, has accepted a position in the post-office. That she will be a very efficient clerk is conceded by every body who has the pleasure of her acquaintance.

L. B. Cain sold to C. Hindman six head of heifers for $110.00; to L. J. Willis, one Jersey cow for $40.00; to Will Bradshaw one horse for $50.00.

Miss Mary B. Feese met with a very painful accident last Wednesday. She was assisting about dinner and accidentally turned over a boiling pot of coffee, the contents falling on one of her feet, scalding it very badly. It will be several weeks before she can wear a shoe.

Rev. R. L. Tally, who has been with us for about eight months and who is circuit evangelist for the Methodist church, will leave for Conference in a few days. He has done a grand work in this part of the State. He is not only a good preacher, but a citizen. He has a wife and several intelligent children. Why not continue him here.

Retiring Pastors.

Rev. A. R. Kasey, who has been the pastor of the Methodist Church, this place, for the past four years, delivered his parting sermon to a large congregation last Sunday forenoon. We do not believe that we state it too strongly when we say that he is the most popular preacher who ever had charge of the Methodist Church here. He is a man of ability, a strong forceful speaker, and in social converse, a gentleman whose company is sought. He has done a grand work at Columbia—built a church-house and has been the means of doubling the membership of his congregation. That such a man will be missed goes without our saying—not only by his own flock, but by the entire community. At the closing service there were special songs, rendered in a very inspiring manner. This week Rev. Kasey will be with the Church at Taber.

Sunday evening Rev. L. T. Reeves, pastor of the Baptist Church, preached his farewell sermon to an immense audience. The Church building was filled to its capacity, in testimony of the esteem in which the retiring pastor is held here. His text was "I shall be Satisfied when I Awake in His Likeness." It was a pathetically worded discourse, very entertaining, the speaker having given the closest attention throughout. Mr. Reeves is very much liked here, and his departure will be felt not only by his Church, but by all those who held the pleasure of his acquaintance.

When you want to drive, phone 99. Prices right. 45-4t

Feed with Goff Bros. & Richardson, the best stable in town. 45-4t

Circuit court drew a large crowd to Columbia Monday. Representatives from all the adjoining counties were here—some to sell stock, others to buy. Quite a number of horses and mules changed hands during the day, and the merchants and other business men were kept busy from early in the morning until late in the afternoon.

Rev. T. L. Hulse, who is the Presiding Elder of this district, will likely not be changed by the Louisville Conference which will convene at Henderson this week. He is a very able divine, and the people of the district do not want him removed. We do not know Rev. Hulse's feeling in the matter, but as himself and family are very much liked here, we trust that they will not be required to remove their residence.

Mr. James Holladay, one of the substantial and highly respected farmers of this county, celebrated his seventieth birthday last Thursday. In honor of the event Mr. Holladay prepared a sumptuous dinner and Mr. Holladay's children and a few neighbors were invited to it. It was a delightful occasion and will long be remembered by those present. Mr. Holladay received several handsome presents.

Mr. Geo. Akin, of Sparksville, was in Columbia last Friday and reported that there was a much better corn crop in his locality than was first expected. He also stated that there was plenty of old corn in his neighborhood, an abundance of wheat, oats and hay and a very large potato crop. He also remarked that the cry of provisions being scarce in Adair county was all a booby.

Squirrels are said to be very plentiful a few miles out from Columbia. We are informed that two of Mr. Galtier Bryant's sons killed forty one afternoon last week.

The above named Association convened last week with the Lone Valley Church, Taylor county, the session continuing for three days. All the churches in the Association were represented and the reports of the delegates showed considerable increase since the meeting of last year. During the session much important work was done, and the Association was delivered. At close Mr. H. S. Robinson, of Campbellsville, was elected Moderator for the ensuing year, and Mr. R. H. Durham, this place, was elected clerk.

The Association is indebted to the people who live in the neighborhood of the Lone Valley Church for the hospitable manner in which the delegates and visitors were entertained.

Mr. J. F. Roe has left at this office a sweet potato which grew in his garden, that is four feet 4 in. in length and weighs only three pounds. It is the longest potato ever exhibited at this office.

On account of declining health, I desire to sell my stock of groceries, hardware, saddlery and harness business. The place I occupy is on the square, a good location. J. W. Jackman, 45-2t Columbia, Ky.

At The Parson's

Last Wednesday afternoon, Mr. Basil Chapman, who is in the mercantile business at Fairplay, this county, and Miss Callie Burdridge, a daughter of Mr. Lee Burdridge, who lives in the same locality, drove into Columbia and the wedding ceremony was performed. Immediately after the ceremony the couple left for Louisville, returning to this place Saturday afternoon. The groom is a substantial business man, popular with all his friends. The bride is a favorite in the neighborhood and will be greatly missed by the young society people.

The busy season for the successful farmer begins January the first and closes December the thirty first, but the busiest period is seed time and harvest. Of the two the harvest day, ordinarily, demand more attention for ripe grain and grass less its work in a hurry. Just now the cutting of corn is pressing, the making of sorghum on hands and the preparation for the next crop of small grain keeps both men and mules busy.

Of the two the harvest day, ordinarily, demand more attention for ripe grain and grass less its work in a hurry. Just now the cutting of corn is pressing, the making of sorghum on hands and the preparation for the next crop of small grain keeps both men and mules busy.

The rain, of last week, while not sufficient to soften the hardest places, gave considerable relief to grass and late crops. It put new life in the turnip patches, prolonged the period of snap beans and started the turning plows in many fields.

Two books by Mr. Barnes are now published. One, a Catechism of truth, 100 questions and answers, paper bound. Price 10 cts. The other 4 sermons, cloth bound, price 40 cts. Proceeds from the sale of these will be used to publish the other books by Mr. Barnes. His Anglo Israel lectures. A lost people. The vanished scepter, and a larger book on the first chapters of Genesis. Of this book Mr. Barnes says in the preface, "If anything I have ever written on Holy Themes was inspired this volume bears that stamp more unmistakably than any I have penned." These books are ready for the press and samples for their publication will be gladly received, $5.00 will bring you at once the two books already published and the other two when issued, or $2.00 will bring you the two now ready and either of the others when published. Please send your subscriptions and orders without delay. This will facilitate the publishing of the books address. Mrs. Mary B. Craig, Box 103, Stanford, Ky. Lincoln, Co.

The Burdette National Bank closed its doors last Thursday. The President announced that every dollar will be paid and that the institution will be open for business in a few days. Failing to collect heavy loans from a local concern was the cause of the suspension. It was a small bank.

A Good Home for Sale.

My residence on Greenburg street in Columbia is for sale. The dwelling contains ten rooms, between 2 and 3 acres of ground, good water and good outbuildings, some fruit. Will sell at a bargain. J. R. Johnson, 45-3t Columbia, Ky.

Mr. Lucien Moore and Miss Tennie Williams, who live in the Montpelier country, were married Wednesday last week.

Mr. J. R. Carson, of Phil, was here Monday, in company with Mr. G. A. Cundiff. Mr. Carson will take charge of the business at Phil left by his brother, Mr. J. R. Carson, and the firm will run in the same name, Combs and Carson.

The many inquiries for small farms in this section, is a good indication for better methods of production and for our mind will eventually make Adair produce what it is capable of yielding. The large farm, without capital, often proves a burden rather than a profit while the small farm is improved and gives in return a fair dividend after all expenses have been paid. Occasionally there is a necessity for a farm of more than the average in size, but such is an exception and usually measures its returns by the skill and management of its owner. A few acres well prepared, thoroughly cultivated, with the weak spots strengthened each season, will give far better results than double the number on the haphazard plan. The evidence of better farming, of smaller landed estates, is becoming more pronounced every year. In a country like this no man can hope to become wealthy purely by farming but every one has within his reach of energy a good living and a moderate bank account besides. There is plenty of room in Southern Kentucky for three times the present number of good farmers, and it will be a blessing when such an increase in the productive powers of our country becomes a reality. Buy small farms, and the best machinery, build up instead of wear out and you will add to the happiness and wealth of mankind.

The bride is a favorite in the neighborhood and will be greatly missed by the young society people.

The busy season for the successful farmer begins January the first and closes December the thirty first, but the busiest period is seed time and harvest. Of the two the harvest day, ordinarily, demand more attention for ripe grain and grass less its work in a hurry. Just now the cutting of corn is pressing, the making of sorghum on hands and the preparation for the next crop of small grain keeps both men and mules busy.

Don't Die On Third.

Maybe you are not a baseball crank. Maybe some of the fan talk don't appeal to you. But whatever you are, and however you feel about it we want you to read this. Detroit has a baseball club that has a habit of winning games, and maybe, this kind of baseball editorial appeals to the Detroit people more than other people. At any rate it is good stuff. Read it and think about it.

It makes no difference whether you haven't reached first yet, make up your mind that you won't die on third. It's the difference between success and failure.

The hero of the incident related is George Morality, of the Detroit baseball team, who, instead of "dying on third" with two men out, beat the ball from the pitcher's hands to the catcher's. But read for yourself the presented, then ruminate in silence and alone.

"All the world's a baseball diamond" says the Detroit News. "You are one of the players. Perhaps you have reached first by your own efforts. It may be that the sacrifices of your parent or friend have enabled you to reach second. Then on someone, a 'long fly' into the business world—a 'fly' that was not 'long' enough to prevent him going out—or someone, fluke on the rules of simple morality and square dealing, you have advanced to third. The opposition against you a third is stronger than at either first or second. At third you are to be reckoned with your opponents converge all their attention on you. Pitchers and catchers coaches and opposing fans are watching to tip off your plans and frustrate them. From third you become either a splendid success or a dismal failure.

"Don't die on third!"

"What are you doing to win the score that life is ready to mark up against your name? Third base has no laurels on which you can rest. What are you doing on third? Are you waiting for someone to 'bat you in?' Suppose he misses; his miss is yours, too. If you place all your dependence on someone else, his failure spells yours. What are you doing on third? Waiting for 'something to turn up?' Don't—nothing turns up, but the thumbs of the thousands of men who watch you may turn down, and make you a permanent failure. Morality wouldn't have scored or he waited, for Mullin didn't hit the ball—and that run was absolutely necessary to save the game. The run was gained in an unmeasurable fraction of time, but the difference between success and failure is very, very often measured in seconds.

"Don't die on third!"

Parents oftentimes wonder who or what has ruined their boys. They have been in school every day, but the teacher either does not teach them any morality or else his teaching is a failure. The truth is, the boys are on the streets from the time school closes until late at night. The street corner is the best place in the world for teaching vice, profligacy and crime, nearly all the bad language and idle, vicious habits of boys are taught on the street at late hours of the night. Teachers may be able to accomplish a little in counteract these evil influences, but much of their labor is in vain until parents co-operate with them in keeping their boys off the street.

Not the General's Cow.

The first and the last duty of a common soldier is to obey orders. Nor is he allowed to put upon his orders a construction that might suit cases not anticipated. This, however, sometimes leads to amusing results, as in an instance told by L. A. Tollemandle in his recent book, "Old and Odd Memories."

"The scene of one of my father's anecdotes was laid in a southern seaport town, where long ago a general and an admiral were neighbors. The general's house was fronted by a grass-plot, on which he claimed the right to pasture a cow.

"One day his wife complained that the supply of milk was falling off. The sentinel accounted for the deficiency by saying that the grass had lately been much trodden down by the public.

"The material despot immediately gave orders that no animal, human or other, except the cow, should be allowed on the grass-plot, and he added—men were not particular in those days—that if this rule were infringed the sentinel should be flogged.

"Soon afterward the admiral's wife, having a pressing engagement, took a short cut over the grass in disregard of the sentinel's repeated order to halt.

"'Sir,'" said the offended lady, 'don't you know who I am?' 'All I know is that you're not the general's cow.'"—The Youth's Companion.

The Impulse Of Courage.

In many cases courage is merely instinctive. Many a man has distinguished himself in the performance of some act of heroism the thought of which caused him completely to collapse when the danger was over. The same instance which leads a man to dodge when about to be struck will lead him, without waiting to take counsel of his judgment, to risk his life in the performance of some heroic act. The impulse of courage is just as natural as the impulse of fear, and however much cultivation may lead individuals to dislike physical danger, so long as there are Carnegie medals to distribute there will probably be no lack of persons worthy to receive them.

Stand up for Your Friends.

Stand up for your friends is a grand motto. Do not stand up with closed lips and listen to the abuse of those whom you love and respect. It takes courage sometimes to defend an absent friend, but if he is a friend and is believed to be a worthy man, it is most cowardly to say no word when he is abused in your presence. Silence is golden, but not in a case where an old acquaintance, a trusted comrade, a respected neighbor, a fraternal associate, is being adversely criticised, having no chance to reply. Then is the time to speak out, and to make proof of that true friendship which is loyal in season and out of season, ever counting it a sacred duty to defend the absent when wrongfully assailed.—Ex.

Horse Feeding.

It is no doubt true that Americans feed their horses too much hay. It is common among horse owners to let horses stand to full mangers when not at work. But in London, the dab horses for example, are given hay for but two hours a day, in the evening. At the end of two hours the mangers are cleared. Careful testing in decreasing the timothy hay ration one-half has not shown that the horses required any more grain than before to keep them in equally good condition.

Horses do not need a heavy ration of alfalfa hay. Fed with grain probably ten or fifteen pounds of it is equal to a manger full of other hay. As they become accustomed to the alfalfa it may be increased a little, and the grain decreased. It is a rich food and should not be used as freely as hay with less protein.—From Coburn's "The Book of Alfalfa."

The Spirit Of Work.

The amount of work which each man accomplishes during the day depends upon other factors than mere hours of labor the most important of these factors is the spirit in which the work is done. The spirit of the day's work will depend upon the personal relation which exists between the office and the workshop. If the employer is known to be interested in the welfare of his men, they will be, more truly than otherwise, his retainers, more zealous for the prosperity of his business; but if his relation to them is that of a taskmaster, they will be his slaves, merely, and quite capable of any treachery. The effort of the employer who would gain the loyal service of his men must be to preserve in every possible way the individuality of the employer to emphasize his manhood, and thus increase his self-respect.

Short Stops.

A man will always contrive in some way to let you know that he has on a new suit.

The bigger the salary the louder the call of duty to the politician.

Eli Timm's daughter thinks she has a great voice, and his son believes he is cut out for a diplomat. Eli says it would cost him just as much to raise them, anyway.

The successful man is the one who doesn't let others learn of his mistakes.

Long hair doesn't make a football player: it's the sand to take the bumps.

What will they do in the next world to the man who figures out how to make imitation pumpkin pies in this.

Advice from folks who think they're wise

Come nearly all the time unasked.

Why is it blessings in disguise So suddenly should be unmasked?

If the monkeys have a language it would be interesting to interview them on the Darwinian theory.

Some Reflections.

A man in Pennsylvania says he is going to call for volunteers and organize an army to march to Panama and dig the canal, the handling a pick and shovel for the good of your native land is just the same as taking a gun or sword and killing other men who have a very dim idea of what the quarrel is about. There may be some sense in this proposition but about the time volunteers realize that they are not to be permitted to march back and forth to the strains of music, while beautiful girls throw flowers at them, and that nobody is going to get a cigar named after him because he can dig more dirt than the next man, there will be desertions from the ranks.

Henry Milford, of Kentucky, lost his wife last week and has ordered a tombstone for her bearing the epitaph. "She always trimmed her own hats." Just now Henry doesn't want to be married again, but as soon as he begins to sit up and take notice he will have to demonstrate that he does not subscribe to the sentiments on that tombstone.

Mrs. Jennie Kinnem, a reformer, is demanding that every city follow the example of Pittsburgh and identify its perfect men. We take it that the lady has been married about four times and has grown pessimistic.

For Farmers.

When your fowls lay soft shelled eggs, they should be fed a ration strong in lime.

It does not pay to grind food for sheep. In fact, they do better when they grind their own.

No animal on the farm succumbs so quickly to disease as sheep, but they are not difficult to keep healthy.

The poultry business is not made up of a few big things which we can do in a day, but of little things which will never cease to come up for our attention.

Dry quarters for the ducks and geese to sleep in are absolutely necessary. The fact that they are water fowls does not mean that they will thrive in damp quarters.

"Scaly leg" is contagious as well as an eyesore. Use coal oil freely on their shanks. Thoroughly mix coal oil, sulphur and lard and apply it three times each week until a cure is affected.

Pour a gallon of boiling water over a pound of lime. When settled pour over eggs which you have packed small end down in a stone jar, and set in cool place. It is claimed the eggs will keep three months.

It is well to work up from a few good cows to many. When the day for the many comes you will know how to handle them—and how to get them.

It is cheaper to keep the herd up all the time than to neglect it for a while and try later to bring it back to condition. The cow won't make up for lost time.

Look at the feet of your horses now and then when out on the road. Sometimes they will pick up a stone between the sides of the shoes and may become lame before you know it.

Have you been using a sheep out of your own flock to head the ewes for a long time? Better go off to some good flock that has new blood in it and buy a nice ram. The improvement in your next year's crop of lambs will more than pay for the same.

School Hats.

They're of felt.

The shapes vary much.

Many of them are called sailors.

These big sailors roll more or less.

The cavalier form continues in high favor.

Then there are small shapes turned up at the left.

A bit of drapery of velvet is liked as a trimming.

A flat bow of velvet is one of the very usual finishes.

The leather trimming either suede or patent, is both smart and enduring.

J. W. Jones, white, who claims to be a barber, was caught in Chattanooga Tuesday of last week by Chief W. Logan Wood and was returned to Danville. He is charged with breaking into Samuel Levitan's store and taking a lot of merchandise. He attempted to pawn the goods in Chattanooga.

This And That.

There are 250,000 words in English language.

Boys' hair grows the rate of that of girls.

In the Russian secret service there are 600 women.

The making of chinaware is the oldest of all industries.

Transvaal gold averages half an ounce to the ton of quartz.

Large elephants weigh six tons large whales 150 tons.

According to Dr. J. E. Squire, the ideal meal consists of bread, butter and cheese.

More than one-fourth of the world's coal production comes from the United Kingdom.

In Germany, if a doctor is wanted suddenly in the night, one goes to the nearest emergency station and fetches one of the several doctors who are always doing their turn of night duty.

Good Roads.

The Bosworth-Wyatt Good Roads bill amending the constitution is meeting with much favor in this section, where such things are needed badly, and we think the mountains of Kentucky will roll up a heavy majority in its favor. Anything for the betterment of our highways should be encouraged. Good roads bring business, social intercourse with the neighbors, education and breadth of mind. There are some objections to it, mainly because the amount of money to be expended will produce grafters. This ought to be and can be obviated by a proper bill to be drawn after the passage of the amendment, placing the expenditure of their money in the hands of a non-partisan board of high-class business men.—Pinetown Sun.

East Camp Kuox.

This vicinity was visited by a light rain Thursday night but not enough to more than lay the dust. Miss Minnie Penick, of Miami, spent several days this week with her sister, Mrs. John Irvin. Dr. Booker is greatly improving his home by the addition of water works and other modern conveniences.

Miss Bettie Cundiff expects to spend several days of next week at the State Fair.

Mrs. L. A. Routzong and daughter, Miss Willa Laundis and son, Master Eric Routzong, who have been visiting Dr. and Mrs. Booker for several weeks returned home at Joplin, Mo., Monday.

Mr. W. W. Cornelison is improving his residence by a new roof and remodeling his porch.

A party composed of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Cornelison Mrs. Booker and her guest, Mrs. Routzong and son and daughter visit, Griffin Springs Sunday.

Mrs. Selden Hatcher was a visitor at the home of Dr. Booker's Tuesday.

The Camp Knox String Band, composed of Misses Bettie and Maggie Cundiff, Minnie Penick, and Bettie Irvin; Messrs. Rollin, Horace and Willie Cundiff, very agreeably surprised Dr. and Mrs. Booker Wednesday evening by visiting them, bringing their instruments and furnishing some beautiful music, which was enjoyed by all present.

J. A. Wade and Lane Hartfield returned last Friday from Louisville where they had gone to sell their tobacco.

You will lose money if you buy before getting my prices on Farm wagons. F. L. Wilson, Russell Springs, Ky. 45-41.

The largest crop of apples ever produced in the United States was a 69,000,000 barrels in the year 1896. The largest crop of any one year since then was 44,000,000 barrels. Some of the passing years have shown crops ranging from 23,000,000 to 25,000,000 barrels. We now have 11,000,000 more people to feed at home than in 1896 and there is an ever increasing demand for American apples. With the small showing in some years, it is evident that there are countless thousands of people in this country who never taste a fresh apple from one year to another.

Farm For Sale.

I have about 140 acres of land on Sulphur Creek for sale. There is a dwelling and barn, but they are not good. A number of bearing fruit trees. Will sell this property for $2,000, $500 cash, the remainder on extended time. This farm lies 3 1/2 miles east from Columbia in a good neighborhood. Also two houses and lots in Columbia on Tutt street. N. M. Tutt. 44-21.

Reports from the Burley district indicate that the first cuttings of the 1909 crop, is curing up with fine bright color, the type they command the higher prices on the market. The late cuttings will probably not be so good, but the prospects now are that the 1909 crop will contain a fairly large percentage colory type that the American Tobacco Company will be glad to get at a good price.

Stock of Goods For Sale.

On account of declining health, I desire to sell my stock of groceries, hardware, saddlery and harness business. The place I occupy is on the square, a good location. J. W. Jackman, Columbia, Ky.

Canned Corn.

Cut from the cob twenty-one quarts of corn, dissolve three and one-half ounces of tartaric acid in a little hot water; put plenty of water, together with acid, on the corn, and boil well. When well cooked put in glass jars and seal hot. Be certain to put in plenty of water. When ready for use drain off the water and add fresh water and a small spoonful of soda and let stand before cooking.

Take from this water and cook with a little milk, sugar, salt, and butter.

Throughout the entire country the interest is growing in favor of better public roads. The local press of the many states is hammering on the proposition all the time, while the most influential city dailies are urging the importance of macadam roads and suggest both state and national aid. Not only the Newspaper people see the tremendous profits and advantages of first-class highways, but the entire people are deeply interested and discussing ways and means from outside of the country to the other. In Virginia the Railroad Companies have tendered help by offering free transportation for men who are to work on the roads and also the free delivery of material to be used in making them. Evidently the building of good roads will prove of inestimable value to the railroads as well as to the cities and the rural sections which will be directly affected. Millions of dollars worth farm and forest products are wasted every year simply because of bad roads. The people who possess losses, the markets of the cities failing to get the products for their many consumers, the railroads lose the freight—the substance so badly needed perish on account of bad roads. The loss can not be fully measured under present conditions nor the blessings approximated by the building of substantial roads throughout the country. At present the country is not holding enough of its most enterprising and progressive young men. Their very natures rebel at the uninviting surroundings and they bid farewell to the farm, go to the towns or cities, many to engage in business of hazard with an equal chance of failure as they had upon the farm. In the face of such conditions, in every state, it is high time that all the states and the national government should seek a remedy and apply it as speedy as possible. The building of the roads is a tremendous proposition but our country is great and powerful, both in men and resources, and this could be accomplished without impoverishing our treasuries or oppressing the people. A small state tax supplemented by national aid would start the movement that could not be checked. The National treasury could spare several millions of dollars every year for this purpose by living within a sane and economical sphere and not cripple its interests in any department. The rivers and harbors are to be improved, but the building and maintaining of an overgrown navy and army is merely a matter of pride and no a necessity or blessing. If the surplus money, expended on the fighting equipments of our country for the last few years, could have been used to lift Americans and the products of the farm from myre of the country our conditions would be much improved. The policy and tendency to ride the seas, supported by a navy and backed by an army that will finally sap the very life of the country, needs to be checked while the blessings and advantages for the rural districts need the strongest stimulants our government can give. Wars may come, troubles of great magnitude may arise, but the strongest, softest and surest means of defense is invested in the patriotism and intelligence of the great common people, and, in a large measure, their places of abode are the hills and valleys on the side of the country roads, good only in dry weather and nearly impassable in rainy weather.

Regardless of Peary's contentions

the great bulk of the people believe that the north pole had been Cooked before he and his Esquimo reached that spot.

To avoid cotton seed oil in your biscuits make your hogs fat and to do this plenty of feed and good attention should be given from now until frosty days of November and December.

Mr. Harriman left his entire estate, worth from $75,000,000 to $100,000,000, to his widow, to be hers absolutely and to hold forever.

Notwithstanding that Commander Peary daily proclaims that he was the first white man to reach the pole, the world almost unanimously believes in Cook. It took Dr. Cook sixteen months on his return to get to the first point where he could communicate his discovery. According to Peary he made the trip and returned in a year.

Obituary.

Died at the home of her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Cundiff, Bessie Cleveland Banks, beloved wife of John Taylor Banks. Born Aug. 2nd, 1884, died September 17th 1909, at the age of 25 years, 1 month and 17 days of consumption. She had been confined to her bed 6 months. Married February 28th, 1906. All through her intense suffering she bore it with cheerfulness and great fortitude to the last.

She leaves to mourn her loss a husband and one little son, Dennis Banks, 2 years and 6 months old, an aged father and mother, three sisters and three brothers.

She was aware that her sweet pure life was near the end and dwells with the angels; She is with her Savior in the haven of rest.

From suffering and strife here pure spirit is free.

It hath winged its way homeward her dear ones to meet.

It is so hard to give our dear one up, it is our loss and her gain.

She is happy and free from this earth and its troubles.

She was loved by every one who knew her.

She was idolized by the entire family. She is asleep in Jesus to await the resurrection morn.

She is at rest, to pure for this world, and has gone to rest.

With Saints and the angels in the land of the blest.

Written by her aunt,
Callie Todd.

Elders Williams and Bauza, who conducted a protracted meeting at Cane Valley the past two weeks preached Tuesday and Wednesday afternoon to the people of Coburg at the house of Mr. A. A. Coward. A good audience greeted them each time and our people, many of whom had not heard the Gospel for twenty years took interest. This is to our minds the true missionary spirit and if our christian people would do more work like this in the communities and homes that are straining for the word of God instead of begging for many to send to the heathen, this sunny land of ours would indeed become a christian country and a paradise of God.

on Thursday called her loved ones one by one to her bedside and told them she wanted them to meet her in heaven, her Savior had called her home and gave her little boy on her death bed to her sister, Anna Cundiff. She said 2 angles were at her bed and she was eating supper with the angels and was going home to her Savor. Said she wished to thank each friend and kindred who had come to see her and brought her so many nice things, and had been so kind and good to her in the last hours she spent on earth. She said to tell them she loved them all, both rich and poor, and to tell each and every one good bye and to meet her in heaven.

Bro. Dudgeon was requested at the funeral to make this statement that Bessie had said her thoughts might all be wrong. We wish to state that this was a mistake for she said she had prayed till she was going home to heaven.

Of our dear Bessie we cannot help but weep.

Her sweet pure life has fled and left us.
But her dear sweet memory will linger in our home forever,
Her body lies sleeping beneath the sod, but alas she is not dead,
Only asleep in Jesus.

Horse Show.

Announcement comes from Louisville to the effect that the Louisville Horse Show will be held this year during the week of October 11th. It will be held in the First Regiment Army, which is unsurpassed as a show place for horses. The prize-list has been completed, and the amounts to be awarded will run well over $12,000. The horse-men of the State and the country at large, who regard the Louisville show as the equal of any in the country, will have something worth while to contest for this fall.

Kentucky saddle horses are as famous as Kentucky thoroughbreds, and the Louisville show has always made a large place for them. This year there will be many classes for both the three-gaited and five-gaited saddlers, and they promise to be unusually well filled. The best that have been developed during the Fair season and at the State Fair will be shown, and real championships will be awarded. Mat Cohen, the Ball Brothers, the Gay Brothers, Lawrence Jones and others who own blue-blooded saddle horses will be among the exhibitors.

A Hurry Up Call.

Quick! Mr. Druggist—Quick!—A box of Bucklen's Arnica Salve—Here's a quarter—For the love of Moses, hurry! Baby's burned himself, terribly—Johnnie cut his foot with a pin—Mama's scalded—Pa can't walk for piles—Billie has boils—and my corns ache. She got it and soon cured all the family. Its the greatest healer on earth. Sold by Paull Drug Co.

A Pike county farmer solved the sheep killing dog problem in a successful way. After he had lost thirty sheep he built in the pasture a square pen of logs and roofed it, but left a big hole in the middle in which he suspended a part of a sheep. Nearly every morning when he went to the pen he found one or more dogs in there which he quietly put out of business. In the course of the winter he caught about forty dogs and didn't lose any more sheep. Moreover, he kept on good terms with his neighbors, which is a hard thing to do if you shoot their dogs and go around bragging about it.

The girls in a certain Kentucky town have organized themselves into a society who have refused to marry any man who drinks, uses tobacco or refuses to take the home paper. Drinking is regarded as the greatest objection, tobacco chewing next, while the young man who don't take the home paper is regarded as not being intellectual. While these Kentucky girls have probably made freaks of themselves by announcing in stentorian tones what requirements are expected of the young men who would seek their hands in matrimony, yet it is a fact that too many sell themselves entirely too cheaply, being stone blind to all that concerns their future happiness. Funny, isn't it that many young girls will trust a fellow with their happiness that the town butcher would not trust with a pound of liver.—Ex.

Dear girls, don't be so often wishing you were grown up women that you will neglect your girlhood. In a rush and hurry of these fast times, there is danger that you will reach and strain after "young ladyhood" too much. Be girls a while yet—tender, joyous, loving, obedient and industrious. Womanhood, with its privileges and power, its burdens and its trials, will come soon enough. "Wait patiently, my children, through the whole limit of your girlhood. Go not after womanhood let it come to you. Keep out of public view. Cultivate refinement and modesty. The cares and responsibilities of life will come soon enough. When they come, you will meet them, I trust, as true women should. But, oh, be not so unwise as to throw away your girlhood. Rob not yourself of this beautiful season which wisely spent, will brighten all your future life."

Night On Bald Mountain.

On a lonely night Alex. Benton of Fort Edward, N. Y., climbed Bald Mountain to the home of a neighbor, tortured by Asthma, bent on curing him with Dr. King's New Discovery, that had cured himself of asthma. This wonderful medicine soon relieved and quickly cured his neighbor. Later it cured his son's wife of a severe lung trouble. Millions believe in the great cure for Cough, Croup, Whooping Cough, Colds, Croup, Hemorrhages and Sore Lungs are surely cured by it. Best for Hay Fever, Grip and Whooping Cough. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by Paull Drug Co.

Some time ago a cranky sort of individual came into this office and stopped his paper because something in it did not just suit his fancy. We have frequently met him on the streets since then and it is amusing to note the look of surprise on the old fellow's face when he realizes that the editor is still in existence, regardless of the fact that we are no longer getting his $1.00. Some day, however—and it will not be long—that old gentleman will turn up his toes. His heart will be stilled forever. There will be a display of pretty poses and crepe and the neighbors and friends will follow his lifeless clay out to the Silent City and lay it to rest in the deep, dark tomb. An obituary will be published in this paper, telling what a kind husband, loving father, good neighbor, beloved citizen, and now progressive and public-spirited he was—which the recording angel will overlook for sweet charity's sake—and in a short time he will be forgotten. As he lies out there in the cold, cold graveyard, wrapped in the silent slumber of death, he will never know the last kind word spoken of him will be by the editor of the paper which he so spitefully "stopped." Have you, gentle reader, ever paused a moment to think that your editor—whenever he may be—will some day write your obituary?—Pemberville (O.) Leader.

My Record.

I climbed to the top of the mountain,
Where there are no trees nor sticks,
And high up there on a crag so bare
Then my name I did affix.
As 'twas cut in stone with a chisel
I thought it was sure to stay,
But loosened by frost its hold was lost
And the stone soon rolled away.
I then sought the sands by the river
That my footprints there might stay,
But the river rose from recent rains
And thus washed my tracks away.
And then on a tree in the forest
I thought my name might be found,
'Twas the steepest tree then standing,
But a storm soon blew it down.
And thus I found that with every mark
I might seek on earth to place,
An enemy would be sure to meet
And would soon that mark erase.
So then let us hope to reach that land
In the mystic realm above,
Where enemies dare not show their hand
And where all is peace and love.

Even when corn is high the relative price for pork frequently makes it the cheapest feed for finishing; fifty-cent corn is not expensive feed for six-cent hogs. Up to the last six weeks of feeding, wheat, rye or other cheaper substitutes may be used with grass, but in the ordinary course corn will be the best dependence for the close of the fattening period.

Queen is Child's Tutor.

The queen of Norway, who is a devoted mother, is teaching her little son, the Crown Prince Olaf, to read. In this she is following the example of her mother and grandmother, for both Queen Alexandra and Queen Victoria personally supervised the education of their children. Prince Olaf is a clever child and in his mother he has a teacher who is as keenly interested in his game as she is in his lessons. In childhood her majesty, then Princess Maud of Wales, was rather a tomboy and thus gained herself the nickname of Harry from her brothers, to whom her high spirits and merry ways always appealed.

Harriman's Career, from Birth to Death, at a Glance.

Born Feb. 25, 1848.

Died Sept. 9, 1909.

His Birthplace—A little frame parsonage attached to St. George's Episcopal Church at Hempstead, L. I.

His Deathbed—In the heart of a place atop a mountain of his own at Arden, Orange County, N. Y.

At the Start—A penniless boy, son of a poorly paid preacher.

At the End—Worth $50,000,000; a national and international figure of consequence; the peer of any man living in the game of railroad finance.

His Education—Two years in church schools.

At sixteen he obtained his first job, which was as office boy in a brokerage house in Wall street.

At eighteen he was a clerk with a share in the profits of his employers.

At twenty-two he bought a seat on the Stock Exchange with $20,000, the accumulation of which he never explained.

He quickly earned the reputation of being one of the stingiest floor traders on the Exchange.

At twenty-five he married Miss Mary Averill of Rochester, daughter of a banker of large means.

At thirty-five he was worth $1,000,000 and made his debut as a railway man, becoming a director of the Illinois Central.

At forty he became Vice-President of the Illinois Central.

At fifty he undertook the reorganization of the Union Pacific in the face of the failure of J. P. Morgan's attempt.

At sixty he realized the ambition of his career—an ocean-to-ocean railway system under his personal control.

A press dispatch reports that the big Burley tobacco fair, which in former years has been held at Maysville, will be held this year at Cythiana. The change in the place of holding the fair was made because if the more central location of Cythiana. The fair will be held sometime this winter, though the exact date has not yet been fixed.

Rev W. M. White, who has been the pastor at Union for the past three months, preached his last sermon last Sunday. Rev.

White has been faithful to his charge, and has served his church faithfully and we can truthfully say that he has been a great light in our church and we regret very much that he has to leave us, but owing to him entering school the first of October compels him to resign. May God bless him wherever he goes.

Mr. Jesse Breeding, one of Nell's best citizens, was in our midst the first of the week and called our attention to one of the best Peacock colts that we ever had the pleasure of looking at. Not a single defect about this individual that the natural eye can detect. You know it has been said that newspaper reporters stretch the blanket some times. Those who don't believe this report all you have to do is to call on Mr. Breeding and take a look for yourself and be convinced.
